

PLANT DESIGN FOR AN OXYGEN-ENRICHED AIR

Process description: The plant is designed to produce oxygen-enriched air for use in a steel-making process. The process involves the separation of oxygen from air using a distillation column. The oxygen-enriched air is then used in a steel-making process.

