

The diagram illustrates the basic structure of the human eye. The outer layer is the sclera, which is white. Inside, the iris and pupil are visible. The lens is located behind the pupil, and the retina is at the back of the eye. The optic nerve is shown exiting the back of the eye.

QUESTION

The diagram illustrates the basic structure of the human eye. The outer layer is the sclera, which is white. Inside, the iris and pupil are visible. The lens is located behind the pupil, and the retina is at the back of the eye. The optic nerve is shown exiting the back of the eye.