

Fig. 1. Schematic diagram of the protein structure. The protein is shown as a grey mesh, and the ligand is shown as a red stick model. The diagram is oriented vertically, with the protein's main body at the top and a tail-like structure extending downwards. The ligand is bound to a pocket on the protein's surface.

1234