

INTRODUCTORY

1. The first part of the book is devoted to the study of the properties of the function $f(x)$ and the determination of its maximum and minimum values.

2. The second part of the book is devoted to the study of the properties of the function $f(x)$ and the determination of its maximum and minimum values.

