

ANATOMY

The hand is a complex structure of bones, muscles, and ligaments. The skeletal structure is composed of the metacarpals and phalanges of the fingers and thumb, as well as the carpal bones of the wrist. The muscles of the hand are responsible for the fine motor control and power grip. The ligaments provide stability and support to the joints of the hand and wrist.

The hand is a complex structure of bones, muscles, and ligaments. The skeletal structure is composed of the metacarpals and phalanges of the fingers and thumb, as well as the carpal bones of the wrist. The muscles of the hand are responsible for the fine motor control and power grip. The ligaments provide stability and support to the joints of the hand and wrist.