GAME PLAY

The game is played by two teams who play a series of rounds. In a round, every player is allowed three rolls with their team's ball (white or blue).

Each player's turn starts with all the pins standing. The ball must be rolled down the length of the alley and not thrown. If the first or second roll results in all pins being knocked down, they are all reset. One pin is worth one point; the maximum score in one turn is thirty points.

The total number of points scored by each team member are added together. The team with the highest score wins the round. The first team to win five rounds wins the match.
