

QUESTION

The graph shows the sales of a product over time. The sales increase until they reach a peak, after which they begin to decline. This pattern is characteristic of a product in its maturity stage of the product life cycle.

ANSWER

The graph shows the sales of a product over time. The sales increase until they reach a peak, after which they begin to decline. This pattern is characteristic of a product in its maturity stage of the product life cycle.