VARIETAL + REGION

For more than 2,500 years humans have been cultivating grapes and making pale, pink wine in the sundrenched, windswept vineyards of Provence. On rocky outcrops and high plateaus nestled between the mountains and the sea, grapevines bask in the brilliant sunshine. About 90% of all wine produced in Provence is Rosé, making it the true Rosé capital of the world.

ABOUT THE WINE

Our Provence Rosé is a blend of Cinsault and Grenache grapes, grown in Le Haut Var of Provence. The mountains and forest cool the vineyards in this warm Mediterranean climate, preserving acidity and freshness while also allowing the grape's flavors to develop fully. Grapes are gently stripped from the stems, followed by direct pressing and fermentation.

TASTE

Salmon in color, with a bright bouquet of red fruits and strawberries, tied together with wild flowers and stone fruit. A highly aromatic wine, bursting with freshness and minerality. This wine is meant to be consumed young.
