Unconstrained experimentation in the cellar has been happening for years. Skin contact white wines hiding in that corner. Perhaps Gamay Noir with carbonic maceration in the lone fermenter? Way in the back where no one can see, there are sparkling wines of varying extended disgorgement. These trials and experiences have been a continuing education allowing the creation of the refined Gran Moraine wines you know. Come explore the Flavorscape universe.

The inspiration for this wine came in 2021 during my family's annual summer trip to Suttle Lake in the Central Oregon Cascades. My wife implored me to make a low-alcohol sparkling wine to pair with our prized hot lazy days by the water and from there began the journey into what's possible in winemaking...we started with drinkability, wove our way down the road to skin contact of an aromatic white picked early for acidity, passed through traditional method sparkling for fatness, richness, and texture, and finished with over a year of tirage time. The final step, as with any new creation, was to name it. On an inspired drive into work one day I thought, let's just call it what is it. Low alcohol sparkling orange wine - and thus, LASOW was born.

PAIRS WITH Picnics, Charcuterie boards, summer baseball, rollerblading, kayaking, beach days, vineyard walks, cocktails to match your wildest imagination, and tumbler glasses.

AROMAS Heady apricot skins, matcha, vanilla bean extract, roughly sawn cedar, caramel chews, carrot cake, daffodils, goldenberries

FLAVORS Chamomile, peach, green tea leaves, champagne mango, dragon fruit, thimble berries, Korean melon, tamarind, orange peel.

TEXTURE Light lifted bubbles with a streak of citrus peel bitterness on the finish. Full bodied, yet lithe the Lasow is the perfect cocktail bubbles.

VARIETAL Pinot Blanc Wash

ALCOHOL 8%

VINEYARD WillaKenzie Estate, Yamhill-Carlton AVA

WINEMAKING 14 months en tirage

DISGORGEMENT June 6, 2024

TA 5.5 g/L      pH 3.26

Gran Moraine wines shine a light on the monologue of the Gran Moraine Vineyard, lifting its voice and vibrant energy through a signature style of elegance and restraint, with a fresh through-line of acidity. A style that has established the winery as a leader in the Willamette Valley.
