

Product Warranty: Functional Hardware

Product warranty is a promise made by the manufacturer or seller to the consumer that the product will function properly for a certain period of time.

Product warranty is a promise made by the manufacturer or seller to the consumer that the product will function properly for a certain period of time. It is a legal obligation that the manufacturer or seller has to the consumer.

Product warranty is a promise made by the manufacturer or seller to the consumer that the product will function properly for a certain period of time. It is a legal obligation that the manufacturer or seller has to the consumer.

Product warranty is a promise made by the manufacturer or seller to the consumer that the product will function properly for a certain period of time.