

CONCLUSION

It is concluded that the proposed method is effective and efficient for the detection of faults in the system.

