

PINEAPPLE

Working from smallest to largest, place the stem of the pineapple through the leaves. Carefully position it near the back of the terrarium.

FLAMINGO

Place your flamingo towards the back of your terrarium pushing the legs down into the soil.

Pro Tip: When placing the flamingo and pineapple, avoid placing them too close to the edge or you might disturb the colorful layers.

Use a paper towel to clean the sides of your terrarium.

GROW

Polka Dot Plants grow best in bright light, but not full sun. They thrive in a humid growing environment, so use the water dropper to keep the soil moist.

In a few weeks your tiny polka dot plants should begin to grow. The spotted leaves may be light pink, dark pink, or white.

Pinch back the center leaves to encourage your plants to stay small and spread.

When you pinch back your plants, you can try replanting these tips in a small amount of potting mix. Once they have roots, find a shady spot in your garden to transplant them, or keep them inside as a decorative house plant.

Hold your terrarium by the bottom. Handle carefully so you do not disturb the layers.

Pro Tip: Avoid adding too much or too little water to your plants. If your plants are not growing after a few weeks, move your terrarium to a sunnier location. You can also replant using the remaining seeds.

Everything you need to decorate, plant and grow your own little tropical paradise - Just add water!

WHAT IS A TERRARIUM?

A Terrarium is a miniature garden created in an artificial environment. Small plants, rocks and garden themed accessories are often included. These gardens are planted as a fun hobby or for educational purposes.

GETTING STARTED

Gardening can get a little messy. Cover your work surface, or work outdoors. You will need water, paper towels, scissors and a small plastic spoon.
