

The diamond is a crystal of carbon. It is the hardest natural material known. It is used in jewelry and in industry for cutting and grinding. It is also used in the production of synthetic diamonds.

ANSWER

FACTFILE

The diamond is a crystal of carbon. It is the hardest natural material known. It is used in jewelry and in industry for cutting and grinding. It is also used in the production of synthetic diamonds.