

QUESTION 200

Which of the following is a common cause of a low-amplitude signal?

A. A loose connection in the signal path

B. A short circuit in the signal path

C. A high impedance load on the signal path

D. A high-frequency signal source

