

BRASS BRASS

BRASS

BRASS is a family of instruments that includes the trumpet, trombone, horn, and tuba. They are made of metal and produce sound by vibrating the lips against the mouthpiece.

BRASS instruments are known for their powerful and bright sound. They are often used in orchestras, bands, and jazz ensembles. The trumpet is the most common brass instrument, followed by the trombone, horn, and tuba.

BRASS

BRASS instruments are made of metal and produce sound by vibrating the lips against the mouthpiece. They are known for their powerful and bright sound. The trumpet is the most common brass instrument, followed by the trombone, horn, and tuba.

BRASS instruments are often used in orchestras, bands, and jazz ensembles.