

THEORY

1. The first part of the theory discusses the basic concepts of the subject. It covers the following topics: (a) Introduction to the subject, (b) The nature and scope of the subject, (c) The objectives of the subject, (d) The importance of the subject, (e) The scope of the subject, (f) The objectives of the subject, (g) The importance of the subject, (h) The scope of the subject, (i) The objectives of the subject, (j) The importance of the subject, (k) The scope of the subject, (l) The objectives of the subject, (m) The importance of the subject, (n) The scope of the subject, (o) The objectives of the subject, (p) The importance of the subject, (q) The scope of the subject, (r) The objectives of the subject, (s) The importance of the subject, (t) The scope of the subject, (u) The objectives of the subject, (v) The importance of the subject, (w) The scope of the subject, (x) The objectives of the subject, (y) The importance of the subject, (z) The scope of the subject.

Sl. No.	Name of the Candidate	Grade
1
2
3
4
5
6
7
8
9
10

DISCUSSION

The discussion part of the report deals with the various aspects of the subject. It covers the following topics: (a) The nature and scope of the subject, (b) The objectives of the subject, (c) The importance of the subject, (d) The scope of the subject, (e) The objectives of the subject, (f) The importance of the subject, (g) The scope of the subject, (h) The objectives of the subject, (i) The importance of the subject, (j) The scope of the subject, (k) The objectives of the subject, (l) The importance of the subject, (m) The scope of the subject, (n) The objectives of the subject, (o) The importance of the subject, (p) The scope of the subject, (q) The objectives of the subject, (r) The importance of the subject, (s) The scope of the subject, (t) The objectives of the subject, (u) The importance of the subject, (v) The scope of the subject, (w) The objectives of the subject, (x) The importance of the subject, (y) The scope of the subject, (z) The objectives of the subject.