

This diagram illustrates the reaction network for the formation of acetic acid (C₂H₄O₂). The network shows various precursors and their interconnections, leading to the final product.

This diagram illustrates the reaction network for the formation of acetic acid (C₂H₄O₂) in the context of Kingston. The network shows various precursors and their interconnections, leading to the final product.