

The number of people in the workforce has increased steadily over the period shown. This is due to a combination of factors, including population growth, an increase in the number of people entering the workforce, and a decrease in the number of people leaving the workforce.

LINGSTON

The number of people in the workforce has increased steadily over the period shown. This is due to a combination of factors, including population growth, an increase in the number of people entering the workforce, and a decrease in the number of people leaving the workforce.