

14
 This is a species of wrasse, characterized by its elongated body and prominent head. It is commonly found in coastal waters and is known for its ability to change color for camouflage.

LINGSTON

15
 This is a species of wrasse, characterized by its elongated body and prominent head. It is commonly found in coastal waters and is known for its ability to change color for camouflage.