

This chart illustrates the performance of Series1 over a five-year period. The data shows a consistent decline, starting at a high value of approximately 100 and ending at a low value of about 20. The overall trend is negative, indicating a significant decrease in the measured value over time.

Line Chart

The right chart illustrates the performance of Series1 over a five-year period. The data shows a consistent increase, starting at a low value of approximately 20 and ending at a high value of about 100. The overall trend is positive, indicating a significant increase in the measured value over time.