

The diagram illustrates two chemical reactions. On the left, a reactant molecule with a double bond and a methyl group reacts with a reagent to form a product molecule with a single bond and a methyl group. On the right, a similar reactant molecule reacts with a different reagent to form a product molecule with a single bond and a methyl group.