

QUESTION 208

Which of the following is a common cause of a false positive in a network intrusion detection system (NIDS)?

- A. A network administrator manually configuring a rule
 - B. A network administrator manually configuring a signature
 - C. A network administrator manually configuring a policy
 - D. A network administrator manually configuring a sensor
- QUESTION 209
- Which of the following is a common cause of a false positive in a network intrusion detection system (NIDS)?
- A. A network administrator manually configuring a rule
 - B. A network administrator manually configuring a signature
 - C. A network administrator manually configuring a policy
 - D. A network administrator manually configuring a sensor