

RESULT DISCUSSION

As the temperature of the water bath increases, the rate of diffusion of the dye increases. This is because the kinetic energy of the water molecules increases, leading to more frequent collisions with the dye molecules, which facilitates their movement across the membrane.

