

The graph displays a single data series that increases to a peak and then decreases. The inset provides a detailed view of the peak's structure.

QUESTION

The graph shows a trend that rises to a peak and then falls. The inset highlights the peak's characteristics.

The data series exhibits a peak, followed by a decline. The inset shows the peak's morphology.

The plot features a peak in the data series, with the inset showing a close-up of this feature.