

Figure 1. The effect of the mutation on the cell cycle. The cells were grown in the presence of the mutation and the cell cycle was arrested by the addition of thymidine. The cells were then released into the cell cycle and the effect of the mutation on the cell cycle was determined. The results are shown in Figure 1. The mutation causes a significant increase in the length of the cell cycle.

Figure 1. The effect of the mutation on the cell cycle. The cells were grown in the presence of the mutation and the cell cycle was arrested by the addition of thymidine. The cells were then released into the cell cycle and the effect of the mutation on the cell cycle was determined. The results are shown in Figure 1. The mutation causes a significant increase in the length of the cell cycle.