

Open Cells

Open Cells
Open cells are used for applications where the material needs to be permeable to air or other gases. They are commonly used in filters, catalysts, and in the construction of lightweight structures.