Care and use

For optimal usage and maintenance of your cookware, please retain these instructions for future reference. Before using the cookware for the first time, ensure it is thoroughly hand-washed. This cookware is suitable for use on hobs only, including induction hobs. For maximum energy efficiency, position the cookware on hob rings that correspond to its base size, and avoid allowing flames to extend beyond the sides or handles. To prolong the lifespan of the cookware, it is advisable to use utensils made of silicone, wood, or nylon, and to refrain from overheating or allowing it to boil dry. Once the thermal indicator changes colour, it is important to reduce the heat to maintain the appropriate temperature. Always supervise the cookware while in use. Please note that the non-stick coating may discolour over time, but this will not affect its functionality. To prevent damage to ceramic hobs, always lift the cookware when moving it, rather than dragging it across the surface. Periodically check for loosened screws and carefully retighten them with a screwdriver if necessary. When it comes to cleaning and storage, allow the cookware to cool before cleaning as it is not suitable for dishwasher use. Instead, hand-wash it with a mild detergent and a non-abrasive sponge, ensuring to rinse and dry it thoroughly afterward. Avoid storing the cookware while it is still wet. When handling hot cookware, always wear heat-resistant oven gloves and never expose it to cold liquids. If you notice any signs of damage to the cookware, dispose of it with care.
