

Novus B52

Novus B52 is a high-precision microscope with a wide range of applications. It is designed for use in a variety of environments, including laboratories, hospitals, and industrial settings.

Key features

- High-precision optics
- Wide range of applications
- Designed for use in a variety of environments
- High-precision optics
- Wide range of applications
- Designed for use in a variety of environments

- High-precision optics
- Wide range of applications
- Designed for use in a variety of environments
- High-precision optics
- Wide range of applications
- Designed for use in a variety of environments

Close-up of the microscope's objective lens and eyepiece.

Close-up of the microscope's base and control panel.

