MAGNETIC TILE TRACK SET

NEO CITY KNOCKDOWN™

It's bright. It's chaotic. It's got more action than a season finale.

Stack it high, launch it fast, and aim for the crash. This is where builds get bold, and gravity doesn't stand a chance.

ONCE UPON A PLAYDATE

Two dads, Joe and Noah, met while their kids were wrecking a perfectly clean living room. One convo led to another, and suddenly they were prototyping in a kitchen, mixing magnets, characters, and wild imagination.

Then the kids leveled up. The usual builds weren't cutting it anymore. So we built something with more speed, more chaos, more woah. Something to pull those old tiles off the sidelines.

Enter: Neo City Knockdown.

MAG RUSH

Mag Rush takes magnetic builds and hits the NOS. We're talking high-speed tracks, wild stunts, and setups that actually make you say "whoa."

WELCOME SET UP FINISH

Before you begin, here's a quick set up overview!

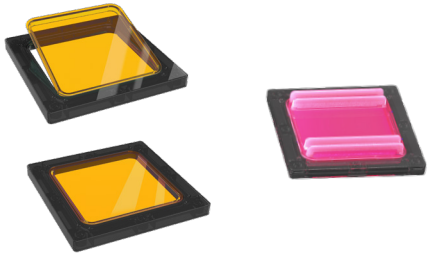

Combine palm tree parts and snap the base into any square frame.

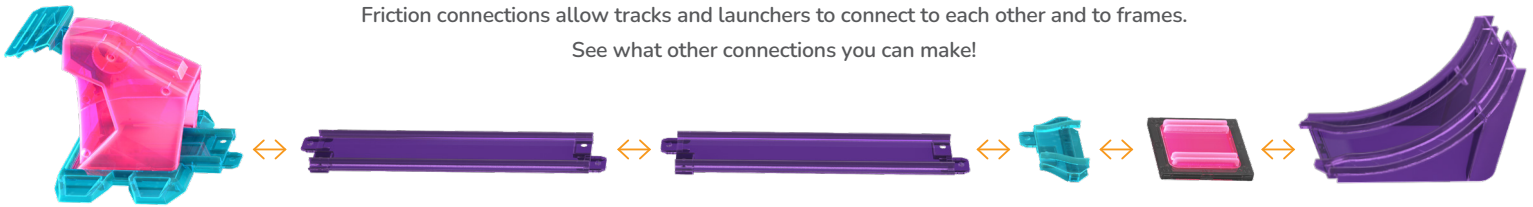

Place the hoop on the base divet, then align the top of the hoop to magnetically stabilize it under the tree.

Watch the hoop float and spin!

Mix and match square colored panels. Just snap them into frames!

Friction connections allow tracks and launchers to connect to each other and to frames.
See what other connections you can make!
