Care and use

Before using the cookware for the first time, it is essential to hand-wash it thoroughly. This cookware is suitable for use on hobs, including induction, and for optimal energy efficiency, it is advised to position the cookware on hob rings that match the base size. Care should be taken to ensure that flames do not extend over the sides or handles. To enhance the longevity of the cookware, the use of silicone, wooden, or nylon utensils is recommended, and it is important not to overheat the cookware or allow it to boil dry. Never leave the cookware unattended while in use, as the non-stick coating may discolour, although this does not affect its functionality. To prevent damage to ceramic hobs, always lift the cookware instead of dragging it across the surface. Periodically, screws may loosen, so it is advisable to retighten them gently with a screwdriver. When it comes to cleaning and storing, always allow the cookware to cool before cleaning, as it is not dishwasher safe. Hand-wash it with a mild detergent and a non-abrasive sponge, then rinse and dry it thoroughly, ensuring that you do not store wet cookware. Exercise caution by always using heat-resistant oven gloves to handle the cookware, and never expose hot cookware to cold liquids. If there are any signs of damage, please dispose of the cookware responsibly.
