A

Diagram A shows an exploded view of the chair seat assembly. The main components are labeled as follows:

- (2) The seat base, which is a rectangular frame with a central support structure.
- (3)-1 The seat cushion, which is a rectangular pad that fits into the seat base.
- (3)-2 The seat backrest, which is a curved piece that fits into the back of the seat base.
- (3)-3 The seat backrest support, which is a small component that fits into the backrest.

B

Diagram B shows a perspective view of the assembled chair. The chair has a modern, minimalist design with a square seat, a curved backrest, and four legs. The backrest is supported by a central vertical post and a horizontal bar. The seat is attached to the base with a central support structure.
