

Estimote's mobile robots are designed to be used in a variety of applications, from research to education. They are easy to use and can be programmed using a variety of languages, including Python, C++, and ROS.

Estimote's mobile robots are also designed to be highly accurate and reliable. They use advanced sensors and algorithms to navigate and avoid obstacles, making them ideal for use in complex environments.

