Care and use

Before using the bakeware for the first time, it is essential to hand-wash it thoroughly. This bakeware is designed for use in domestic ovens only, with a maximum temperature of 220 °C or Gas Mark 7, and is not suitable for use on hobs, in microwaves, under grills, over naked flames, or on open fires and barbecues. To prevent sticking, lightly coat the inner surface with oil or butter, and avoid filling the bakeware more than two-thirds full. Only use heat-resistant plastic, silicone, or wooden utensils, as metal ones can cause damage. Cutting food directly in the bakeware is not recommended, as it may harm the surface. Take care not to overheat the bakeware or subject it to sudden temperature changes, and never leave it unattended while in use; ensure your kitchen is well-ventilated during cooking. If the bakeware becomes chipped or damaged, discontinue use immediately. After use, allow the bakeware to cool completely before moving or cleaning it, and refrain from pouring cold water onto hot bakeware. Although it is dishwasher safe, hand-washing is recommended to protect and prolong its life; use warm, soapy water with a mild detergent and a soft cloth, avoiding harsh or abrasive cleaners. When using a dishwasher, remove the bakeware promptly after the cycle and dry it thoroughly. For stubborn stains, a non-abrasive plastic mesh or pad may be employed. Avoid soaking the bakeware in water for extended periods and ensure it is stored in a clean, dry place; if stacking, place a layer of paper between pieces to prevent scratching. Always handle hot bakeware with heat-resistant oven gloves and exercise caution when moving it in and out of the oven. If the bakeware becomes damaged or defective, stop using it immediately. Provided the care and use instructions are followed, the Salter ten-year guarantee ensures replacement, substitution, or a refund for products that fail due to faulty workmanship or materials, although this guarantee does not cover damage caused by accidents or misuse and is additional to your statutory rights. To be eligible for this guarantee, please register your product within 30 days of purchase at www.saltercookshop.com.
