Care and use

For optimal use and care of your cookware, please retain these instructions for future reference. Prior to its first use, ensure that the cookware is thoroughly hand-washed. It is suitable for use on hobs only, including induction hobs; for maximum energy efficiency, position the cookware on hob rings that are equivalent to its base size. Take care not to let flames extend over the sides or handles, and to enhance the lifespan of the cookware, it is advisable to use silicone, wooden, or nylon utensils, avoiding metal utensils altogether. Do not overheat the cookware or allow it to boil dry, and never leave it unattended while in use. To prevent pitting, avoid leaving salty foods in the cookware at any time. When using on ceramic hobs, always lift the cookware instead of dragging it across the surface to prevent damage. Please note that screws may loosen over time; therefore, it is recommended to carefully retighten them with a screwdriver as needed. When it comes to cleaning and storing the cookware, always allow it to cool before cleaning. It is safe for dishwasher use with mild detergents, but for best results, hand-wash with a mild detergent and a non-abrasive sponge, making sure to rinse and dry it thoroughly. Always store cookware dry, as wet cookware can lead to issues. Exercise caution when handling the cookware by using heat-resistant oven gloves and never expose hot cookware to cold liquids. If you notice any signs of damage, please dispose of the cookware carefully.
