Care and use

Before using the cookware for the first time, it is essential to hand-wash it thoroughly. This cookware is suitable for use on hobs only, including induction hobs, and for optimum energy efficiency, it should be placed on hob rings that match its base size. Care should be taken not to let flames overlap the sides or handles. To enhance the longevity of the cookware, it is advisable to use silicone, wooden, or nylon utensils and to avoid overheating or allowing the cookware to boil dry. When the thermal indicator changes colour, reduce the heat to maintain the desired temperature, and never leave the cookware unattended while in use. It is important to note that the non-stick coating may discolour over time; however, this does not affect its functionality. To prevent damage to ceramic hobs, always lift the cookware instead of dragging it across the surface. Additionally, screws may loosen with time, so it is recommended to retighten them carefully using a screwdriver. For cleaning and storage, ensure the cookware is allowed to cool fully before washing, as it is not dishwasher safe. Hand-wash it with a mild detergent and a non-abrasive sponge, rinse thoroughly, and dry it completely, avoiding storage while still wet. Always use heat-resistant oven gloves to handle the cookware, and never expose hot cookware to cold liquids. If any damage to the cookware is noted, it should be disposed of carefully.
