Care and use

Before using the bakeware for the first time, it is essential to hand-wash it thoroughly. This bakeware is suitable for domestic oven use only, with a maximum temperature of 220 °C or Gas Mark 7, and is not intended for use on a hob, in a microwave, under a grill, over an open flame, or on a barbecue. To prevent food from sticking, lightly coat the inner surface with oil or butter, and ensure that the bakeware is not filled beyond two-thirds of its capacity. Only heat-resistant plastic, silicone, or wooden utensils should be used, as metal ones can cause damage. It is also important not to cut food in the bakeware to preserve its surface integrity. Avoid overheating the bakeware or exposing it to sudden temperature changes, and never leave it unattended while in use; always ensure that the kitchen is well-ventilated. If the bakeware becomes chipped or damaged, discontinue use immediately. After use, allow the bakeware to cool completely before moving or cleaning it, and avoid pouring cold water onto hot bakeware. While the bakeware is dishwasher safe, hand-washing is recommended to maintain its quality; clean it with warm, soapy water and a soft cloth, avoiding harsh cleaners or scourers. If using a dishwasher, ensure the bakeware is removed promptly after the cycle ends and dried thoroughly. For stubborn stains, a non-abrasive plastic mesh or pad may be used. Do not soak the bakeware in water for extended periods and ensure it is stored in a clean, dry place; if stacking, place paper in between layers to prevent scratching. Always handle hot bakeware with heat-resistant oven gloves and exercise caution when moving it in and out of the oven. If the bakeware becomes damaged or defective, cease its use. Subject to following the care and usage guidelines, the Salter ten-year guarantee promises replacement, substitution, or a refund for any product that fails due to faulty workmanship or materials. This guarantee does not cover damage caused by accidents or misuse and is in addition to your statutory rights.
