

Conclusion of the Study

Overall, the study highlights the importance of a comprehensive approach to patient care, encompassing both medical and psychological aspects.

